

Name _____ Date _____

Directions: Look for words in the poem “_____” that appeal to the five senses. Place the words in the box that corresponds to the imagery that it presents. List at least two words per sense.

Fall is on its Way!

By: Kelsi Phillips

Fall is falling all around,
Leaves are floating to the ground.
Wind whips wildly as it breezes through the air,
Whispering new greetings and tousling my hair.

Mornings are cold walking to the bus,
But we're too excited for it to bother us.
'Cause Mom's making pie when we get out of school
But we have to do our homework first, 'cause that is the rule.

The school day seems to last forever.
We gaze out the window; this is perfect play weather!
The bell finally rings and we're ready to go
We load up the bus with our heavy coats in tow.

We burst our way right through the door
And throw our bookbags on the floor.
Mom's being kind because today's a special day.
We get pie before homework! Fall is on its way!